

Add a little Luxury to your Valentine's break...

January 2008

Valentine's Day is fast approaching and hopefully by now you'll have a present and card, or maybe if they're lucky, you'll be whisking your loved one away for a special valentine break. Want to make even more of an impression and earn extra brownie points? You can make your loved one feel the centre of attention, with the Help-Me-Park Meet and Greet parking service at Gatwick Airport.

What says "you deserve to be spoilt" more than the luxury of a chauffeur to personally meet you outside the terminal at the beginning of your journey, that collects and parks your car avoiding all the hassle involved with parking yourself at the airport.

On your return back from your break, the Help-Me-Park team monitor your return flight time and chauffeur your car back to the front of the terminal once you have made your way through customs and baggage reclaim, ready for a quick getaway.

You could always be even more extravagant by starting your break early and upgrading the night before you travel to include a stay at either the London Gatwick Hilton or The Felbridge Hotel & Spa, both of which offer excellent Meet and Greet parking packages with Help-Me-Park.

There are many companies that offer a Meet and Greet parking service at Gatwick airport, but with Help-Me-Park you'll feel like a million dollars with their attention to detail, excellent high levels of service, professional friendly staff and no waiting money back guarantee – completely unique to the parking industry.

Sales Director Sean McCarthy said "We take great effort and pride in offering the best meet and greet parking at Gatwick and this shows in the loyalty of our customers. Over 85% of our customers use us time after time, a fact we're rather proud of. We treat our customers as individuals, in the way we like to be treated - with exceptionally high levels of service. We believe this approach is one of the keys to our success".

So, if you're looking for something a little different for your Valentine's break, take a look at the Meet and Greet parking service with Help-Me-Park.
